Indigestion

IS not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:—

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to digest all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions, I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."

TO EXCLUDE AMERICANS.

China Will Play Uncle Sam's Little Game, Too.

MONGOLIANS WILL RETALIATE.

If the Anti-Chinese Law Is Not Repealed the Oblique Eyed Orientals Will Make Things Very Interesting for the Yankees in the Flowery Kingdom.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The most distinguished personage on the passenger list of the French steamer La Bretagne, which arrived yesterday, was his excellency Tsui, the Chinese minister at Washington. If Minister Tsui is correct in his predictions, we are on the eve of a good deal of trouble with his government. The Celestial diplomat is very considerably worried because for whatever happens he will be more or less held responsible. Mr. Tsui's predecessor, Chang Yen Hoon, was abused for not preventing congress from passing the Chinese exclusion law, and when the news reached China his angry constituents burned his residence and destroyed his property. The present minister realizes that he does not control Mr. Blaine and congress, and he doesn't like the outlook. Through V. K. Lee, his official interpreter, Minister Tsui gave the following interview for publication:

A Dose of Our Own Medicine.

"Unless the United States government repeals the law which now excludes my countrymen from this country we shall treat Americans to a dose of their own medicine. I mean that we shall exclude citizens of the United States from the Chinese empire.

"We hope we shall not be pushed to any measures of retaliation. The Chinese foreign office has sent several demands to Mr. Blaine to repeal the exclusion law. We have received no reply from him. Of course, congress alone can set right the present outrage, but the state department is the proper channel of negotiation. Our treaties with the United States have been regarded as sacred trusts, and we have lived up to the very letter of them. Now, without the slightest warning or excuse, the United States cruelly breaks its solemn agreement and builds up a barrier against our citizens.

The Treaty Repudiated.

"After this exclusion law was passed in defiance of all treaties Secretary Bayard and the former minister from China conferred, and the result was a proposed new treaty with China, which contained the exclusion law. When this treaty was submitted to the emperor and his council it was instantly repudiated. The Chinese government at once refused to entertain any such proposal for a new treaty, and demanded that the exclusion law be at once repealed and the terms of the present treaty complied with."

Waiting to Hear from Uncle Sam.

"What is the present status of the question in China?"

"The council of state, which guides the emperor, is simply waiting to hear from the United States foreign office. Your reputation for fair dealing and honesty with foreign nations has been such in the past that we connot believe you mean to break a treaty without reason or excuse. That you have done so there can be no doubt. And if we find that the United States means to persist in excluding the Chinese from its shores we shall proceed to the same tactics. The Chinese government will forbid the landing of American citizens in the empire."

Injury to American Investments.

"How about the American citizens now residents of China and the American capital invested there?"

"All those will be matters of detail which the council of state will arrange. I am aware that there are a great many millions of American capital invested in China. American interests in China are, of course, vastly more important financially than our invested interests in the United States. Any rupture between the two nations will, of course, injure the American investments."

"What is believed in China to be the reason for our exclusion laws?"

Exclusion the Work of Politicians.

"It is generally supposed to be the work of the politicians. I know, of course, your argument about cheap labor and the destruction of fair wages.

"You say that Chinamen come to America and save all the money they can and then take it home with them—that they don't become citizens. Well, isn't that exactly what every American in China is doing?"

About Chinese Cheap Labor.

"How about the cheap labor charge?"

"Why, the Chinese have built your great western railroads and their cheap labor has made possible and has carried through to successful completion vast works and enterprises which would have been impossible with other labor. The Chinese are satisfied with small wages and do not strike. When they are driven out the capitalist will be at the mercy of other foreign laborers who will not work so cheap, and who will combine and strike and jeopardize capital.

"'Chinese cheap labor' has been tried in various parts of the world and is always a success. Look at the great Chinese colonies at Singapore, the Straits settlements and other places."

Three Countries to Look After.

Minister Tsui then explained through his interpreter, Mr. Lee, that he was returning from an audience with her majesty Maria Christina, the queen regent of Spain. Mr. Tsui is not only the minister to the United States but represents his government at the court of Spain and also the republic of Brazil. His residence is, however, in Washington, and he is expected to occasionally make a flying visit to Spain and Brazil, where he is represented by a local charge d'affaires.

Mr. Lee is a Chinaman, but writes and speaks English, French and Spanish with ease, and is the general factotum of his excellency, although the regular traveling suite includes eight servants.

Civil Service in China.

Minister Tsui is a trifle over 60 years of age and reached his official eminence through the civil service, which is an actual reality in China. He is of rather humble parentage, but by hard study has passed all the examinations and is one of the most intelligent men of the Celestial kingdom. He has only one wife with him in America.

Drowned at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.—John Wurster, aged 22, and living at 1,624 Dickinson street, Philadelphia, was drowned while bathing in the ocean Sunday. The work of resuscitation lasted several hours, but life was extinct.

ELECTION OFFICERS SENTENCED.

Four of Jersey City's Corruptors Sent Up for Eighteen Months.

JERSEY CITY, July 8.—There was a large crowd of politicians and others present at the Hudson county court house to listen to the sentence of the four Jersey City election officers, Thomas Fallon, James Hart, Jacob Moschell and James Derancey, who were found guilty last Monday for conspiracy to pervert the election laws in last fall's election. The prisoners were called to the bar and were sentenced by Judge Lippincott to eighteen months each in the state prison and to pay the costs of court. The court declined to accede to the recommendation of the jury for mercy on behalf of Derancey, the Republican member of the board, on the ground that he was equally guilty with the others and had betrayed the trust imposed upon him by the party he represented. The accused were then conducted to the county jail.

It is understood that application will be made at once for a writ of habeas corpus, and that an appeal will be made to the higher courts, and that the prisoners will be admitted to bail pending the proceedings. These are the first four of the big batch of sixty-eight indicted for conspiracy.

THE KEYSTONE STATE CONVENTION

Democrats Again Place Pattison and Black in the Field.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 8.—The Democratic state convention nominated the following ticket:

Robert E. Pattison for governor.

Chauncey F. Black for lieutenant governor.

William H. Barclay for secretary of internal affairs.

Pattison and Black were each nominated on the first ballot, and Barclay was nominated by acclamation. Mr. Pattison thanked the convention in an eloquent speech, denounced M. S. Quay and the Republican party, prophesied victory for the Democracy and promised to faithfully look after the people's affairs if he were elected.

The platform in full is as follows:

The Democracy of Pennsylvania, by their representatives in state convention assembled, renewing their former pledges of fidelity and devotion to their sacred rights of the people and the states, do declare:

First—That ballot reform is necessary, and to this end we recommend the adoption of such a system as the Australian ballot law.

Second—That tariff reform is necessary in order that both producers and consumers may be relieved from the burden of unnecessary taxation.

Third—That state and local reform is necessary in order that the taxation for county, municipal and township purposes may be equitably adjusted, and the unjust discrimination against land remedied.

Fourth—That the law requiring that the surplus in the state treasury shall be invested in state or United States bonds must be observed and executed.

Fifth—We invite comparison of the courage, fidelity and integrity of the administration of Grover Cleveland with the duplicity, vacillation and corrupt surroundings of the present federal administration.

Sixth—The silence of M. S. Quay under the charges which have been made against him through the public press can only be interpreted as a confession of his guilt, and his retention of a seat in the United States senate while refusing to demand a legal investigation of these charges is a national scandal. We accept the issue of Quayism as now tendered by the Republican state committee and convention.

Seventh—We arraign the Republican party for its usurpation of power in the administration of the federal government for placing in the chair of the house a speaker who has been enabled by them to become a dictator and to usurp the power of legislating for the representatives of the whole people; for its open disregard of the provisions of the civil service law, which the president of its choice was solemnly pledged to support; for its ceaseless efforts to promote sectional strife and disturb the business tranquility of the country; for its lavish and reckless expenditure of public moneys; for its passage through the house of representatives of a tariff bill which increases the taxes on necessaries, reduces only those laid upon luxuries and is calculated to promote and foster trusts.

We also arraign the Republican party for its failure to enforce the laws against the importation of contract and pauper laborers; for its attempt to pass a federal election law designed to excite a race war; for its discrimination and legislation against the agricultural interests, which has greatly reduced the value of farm land; for its indifference to the rights of labor, its defeat of the labor bills in the last legislature, and its failure to enforce articles 16 and 17 of the constitution by proper legislation.

Eighth—We sympathize with the relatives and friends of the victims of the appalling disaster at the Hill Farm mines, and demand of the legislature the prompt enactment of additional measures for the more effectual protection of the lives of miners.

Ninth—We commend favorably to the consideration of our senators and representatives in congress the claims of the citizens of our border counties for losses sustained during the rebellion.

Recalling with pride the glories of our party's past, rejoicing in the majesty of its present strength and looking forward to its speedy triumph throughout the country, we confidently appeal to the intelligence and integrity of the people of Pennsylvania for their active and enthusiastic support of the political reforms this day inscribed upon the standard of a united, progressive and aggressive Democracy.

FIVE CHILDREN KILLED.

The Terrible Havoc Wrought by an Explosion at Industry, Pa.

SCOTT HAVEN, Pa., July 7.—A keg containing fifty pounds of powder exploded in August Smith's grocery store at Industry, near Scott Haven, wrecking the building and injuring seven children. The explosion was caused by sparks from a firecracker which exploded prematurely in the hands of August Smith, Jr., aged 14 years. The store was a resort for children, and at the time of the accident a large number were present firing crackers. The powder exploded with terrific force, lifting the building, which was a two story structure, from its foundations.

Five of the seven little victims have died. Their names are August Smith, aged 14 years; his 19-months-old sister Mary, George and Willie Kahler, aged respectively 8 and 6 years, and John Brennan, aged 10 years.

Emma Smith, aged 9 years, and Charlie Shaw, aged 8 years, the other victims, will recover. The father of young Brennan is crazed with grief, and tried to kill Smith, the owner of the building where the powder was stored. The coroner's jury returned a verdict condemning the practice of merchants keeping powder and other explosives where children have access to them. Mr. Smith has frequently been warned about the danger of keeping his powder under the counter, but failed to heed the warnings, and many harsh words are said against him, notwithstanding the loss of his two children and his wrecked house.

Poor Wentlandt's Body Found.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The body of Franz Wentlandt, who committed suicide with his wife Wednesday night at Hoboken, N. J., on account of poverty, was found Sunday floating near the Rotterdam steamship pier. The bodies of Mrs. Wentlandt and her babe were found near the same place Thursday morning.

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS.

Louis R. Walters, Assistant Treasurer at Philadelphia—Many Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations: To be general appraisers of merchandise under the provisions of an act of congress approved June 10, 1890—George C. Tichenor, of the District of Columbia; George H. Sharpe, of New York; James A. Jewell, of New York; Charles H. Ham, of Illinois, and Joseph B. Wilkinson, Jr., of Louisiana.

Louis R. Walters, of Pennsylvania, to be assistant treasurer at Philadelphia; Charles Wildner, of Iowa, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Burlington, Ia.

Pennsylvania—M. G. Bulger, Brownsville; William H. Pennell, Duncannon; O. H. Hollister, Meadville; W. P. Buch, Pottstown; Theodore F. Ramsey, Wayne.

Rhode Island—J. D. Caswell, Narragansett Pier.

A Serious Runaway.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 7.—In a runaway accident here Sunday afternoon Mrs. Kate M. Overbaugh, her daughter, Mrs. Amos P. Gray, and the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Gray were thrown from their carriage and perhaps fatally injured. Mrs. Overbaugh struck against a tree and was rendered insensible. Both her legs and her collar bone were broken, and she received deep cuts on her head and body. Mrs. Gray was badly cut about the head and also received internal injuries, while her child had one leg broken and received several scalp wounds.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., July 8.—A few days ago D. W. Spaulding, clerk of the courts for this county, and an Indian named Negay left here for the interior of the reservation for the purpose of prospecting for coal. Intense excitement has just been caused in this city by the report brought here that Mr. Spaulding and his companion had been killed by Indians. Gen. Anderson at once sent out a strong posse of Indian police for the purpose of investigating matter.

British Guns in Behring Sea.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 8.—The flagship Warsprite, which is expected to arrive daily at Esquimalt, B. C., and be ready for any emergency in Behring sea, is a powerful first class armored vessel of 2,400 tons, carrying ten guns and Rear Admiral Hotham, C. B. The Nymphe, Daphne and Espiegle, which accompany the flagship, are all twin screw sloops of six, eight and ten guns respectively. So this new fleet brings thirty-six guns on the scene in addition to the Amphion and Champion, already there.

Contractor Snaith Victorious.

ALBANY, July 8.—The general term has reversed the order of the lower courts in the case of the people against Contractor John Snaith and ex-Superintendent of Public Buildings Charles B. Andrews, and vacated with costs the order of arrest against the defendants upon which they were each out in $50,000 bail. The action was to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by the state through conspiracy in connection with the notorious assembly ceiling scandal.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in the Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The senate passed the bill admitting Idaho into the Union as a state.

The house further debated the election bill, and a number of amendments were made to the measure.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The senate debated the Frye subsidy bill and the bill to establish an ocean mail service.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—After a very spirited contest the house on Wednesday passed the federal election bill by a vote of 155 to 149. The amendment offered by Mr. Tucker (Va.) requiring the judge of the circuit court (associated with the judge of the district) to pass upon applications for supervisors of election was rejected. Mr. Hemphill's amendment striking out that section of the bill authorizing the use of United States troops to enforce the election laws was also rejected—yeas, 145; nays, 156.

Mr. Rowell (Ills.) offered an amendment making it the duty of the circuit judges in each circuit within one month after the passage of this act to open a special term of the circuit court in their respective circuits, said judge to appoint for each judicial district three discreet persons of good standing to be known as United States juror commissioners.

The duty of these commissioners to be to organize as a board, and from time to time make from the qualified voters a list of persons who, under the laws of the United States and the state, shall be eligible for jury duty, without respect to race or color. The amendment also provides that hereafter all panels for jurors shall be drawn by the board in the presence of a district and circuit judge.

Mr. Roswell's amendment was agreed to on a vote by tellers—yeas, 146; nays, 143. Considerable confusion followed the announcement of the vote. Mr. Outhwaite (O.) said the yeas and nays had been demanded.

The speaker said the demand was too late. The Democrats all rose to their feet at the request of Mr. Outhwaite to demand the yeas and nays, and the speaker said that if there was no objection, the yeas and nays would be ordered. The yeas and nays were called and the amendment was adopted—yeas, 150; nays, 140.

The speaker declared the previous question ordered on the bill and amendments.

Mr. Springer moved to lay the bill on the table. Lost—yeas, 148; nays, 156. The only Republicans who voted to lay on the table were Coleman (La.) and Lehlbach (N. J.). Mr. Ewart (N. C.) was paired with Mr. Simonds (Conn.) Mr. Springer moved to lay the bill on the table, stating that his former motion was to table the bill and pending amendment. The speaker ruled the motion out of order. Mr. Springer appealed, and the appeal was laid on the table—yeas, 158; nays, 146. Mr. Springer (having voted in the affirmative) moved a reconsideration.

Mr. Grosvenor (O.) made the point of order that this was a dilatory motion—a point which was sustained by the speaker. Mr. Springer appealed, but the speaker declined to entertain the appeal.

Mr. Springer protested that this was the first time in the history of the government that a motion to reconsider was not recognized, but his voice was drowned in calls for the regular order from the Republican side. Mr. Springer moved to adjourn. Lost—yeas, 147; nays, 157. The bill was ordered engrossed and read a third time by a vote of—yeas, 155; nays, 148. Mr. Hemphill (S. C.) moved to recommit the bill. Lost—yeas, 148; nays, 156. Mr. Coleman and Mr. Lehlbach voted with the Democrats in the affirmative. Mr. Springer, having voted in the negative, moved a reconsideration. The motion to reconsider was tabled—yeas, 156; nays, 149. Mr. Outhwaite (O.) moved an adjournment, which motion the speaker ruled out as dilatory.

Mr. Springer demanded the reading of the engrossed bill, but the speaker was prepared for this demand, the bill having been engrossed in advance, and a burst of applause came from the Republican side when the clerk began the reading. The bill was passed at 9 p. m.

THE POPE'S DECISION.

It Is Against Dr. Burtsell, the Follower of Father McGlynn.

ROME, July 7.—The pope has personally ratified the sentence of the propaganda condemning Dr. Burtsell, the follower of Dr. McGlynn, to obey the order of Archbishop Corrigan transferring him from the Epiphany to a country parish. When Archbishop Corrigan arrived in Rome the officials of the propaganda told him that Dr. Burtsell was bound to obey his order, and that the case was exclusively within the archbishop's jurisdiction. Archbishop Corrigan then declared that he would prefer to have Dr. Burtsell's appeal recognized in Rome with the right of the appellant to argue his case fully and frankly, so that the McGlynn scandal might be finally closed beyond the hope of resurrection, with the pope' own decision sealing it.

The propaganda then sent an ultimatum to Dr. Burtsell declaring that if he would make a full submission to the archbishop the latter would forgive and forget. If he persisted in resistance the propaganda would consider all his arguments, but warned frankly that there was little hope for him in an appeal. Dr. Burtsell replied by forwarding his appeal and the propaganda has rarely considered an appeal in modern times with such care. The matter seemed so grave that the pope himself went over the whole case.

Dr. Burtsell, in a certain sense, stands at this time where Dr. McGlynn did when he received an order from the pope after rebelling against the archbishop.

It was generally felt that Dr. Burtsell's stanch support of Dr. McGlynn, and particularly his action in acting as counsel for the latter, and later in continuing to extend the comforts of the church to persons known to be in sympathy with the deposed priest, would meet with more or less stern reproof, and the only question was that of the severity of the punishment and the manner in which Dr. Burtsell would receive it.

Whether he will submit is doubted by those who know him best, as he is a man of strong convictions and great strength of character, and a refusal on his part to accept the result of the archbishop's mission to Rome would be regarded as a logical conclusion to the stand he has already taken in the Corrigan-McGlynn controversy. It is thought that this new action will probably begin a longer and more acrimonious struggle than even that which culminated in Dr. McGlynn's suspension from clerical functions.

A Big Bonanza Near Tin Cup.

TIN CUP, Colo., July 8.—The most wonderful discovery of gold ever reported comes from six miles from here on Cross mountain. There is a ten-foot vein, the lower six feet of iron manganese, and the upper four bearing quartz of free gold. The lowest essay from the rock is $440 per ton, and there are specimens which return $96,000 in gold to the ton. The value of the mine is estimated at from $560,000 to $187,000,000. The excitement is intense, and thousands of miners are rushing into the camp.

TEXT OF THE SILVER BILL

The Provisions of the Measure Finally Agreed Upon.

BULLION THAT MUST BE BOUGHT.

The Treasurer Directed to Buy 4,500,000 Ounces Per Month, Upon Which Treasury Notes Shall Be Issued—2,000,000 Ounces of Silver Must Be Coined Monthly

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Following is the text of the conference substitute silver bill agreed to by the conference of the senate and house:

Be it enacted, etc.—That the secretary of the treasury is hereby directed to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered, in each month, at the market price thereof, not exceeding $1 for 371 25-100 grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchases of silver bullion treasury notes of the United States to be prepared by the secretary of the treasury in such form and of such denominations not less than $1 nor more than $100,000 as he may prescribe, and a sum sufficient to carry into effect the provisions of this act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Silver Certificates a Legal Tender.

Sec. 2. That the treasury notes in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be redeemable on demand in coin at the treasury of the United States, or at the office of any assistant treasurer of the United States, and when so redeemed may be reissued, but no greater or less amount of such notes shall be outstanding at any time than the cost of the silver bullion and the standard silver dollars coined therefrom then held in the treasury purchased by such notes, and such treasury notes shall be a legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract, and shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued, and such notes when held by any national banking association may be counted as a part of its lawful reserve.

The Policy of the United States.

That upon demand of the holder of any of the treasury notes herein provided for the secretary of the treasury shall, under such regulations as he may prescribe, redeem such notes in gold or silver coin, at his discretion, it being the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by law.

The Coinage Per Month.

Sec. 3—That the secretary of the treasury shall each month coin 2,000,000 ounces of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act into standard silver dollars until July 1, 1891, and after that time he shall coin of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act as much as may be necessary to provide for the redemption of the treasury notes herein provided for, and any gain or seigniorage arising from such coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the treasury.

Sec. 4—That the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act shall be subject to the requirements of the existing law and the regulations of the mint service governing the methods of determining the amount of pure silver contained, and the amount of charges or deductions, if any, to be made.

Part of a Former Act Repealed.

Sec. 5.—That so much of the act of Feb. 28, 1878, entitled "An act to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar and to restore its legal tender character as requires the monthly purchase and coinage of the same into silver dollars of not less than $2,000,000 nor more than $4,000,000 worth of silver bullion," is hereby repealed.

Thirty Days from Passage.

Sec. 6—That upon the passage of this act the balances standing with the treasurer of the United States to the respective credits of national banks for deposits made to redeem the circulating notes of such banks, and all deposits thereafter received for like purpose, shall be covered into the treasury as a miscellaneous receipt, and the treasurer of the United States shall redeem from the general cash in the treasury the circulating notes of said banks which may come into his possession subject to redemption, and upon the certificate of the comptroller of the currency that such notes have been received by him, and that they have been destroyed, and that no new notes will be issued in their place, reimbursement of their amount shall be made to the treasurer, under such regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, from an appropriation hereby created, to be known as "national bank notes; redemption account," but the provisions of this act shall not apply to the deposits received under section 3 of the act of June 20, 1874, requiring every national bank to keep in lawful money with the treasurer of the United States a sum equal to 5 percent. of its circulation, to be held and used for the redemption of its circulating notes; and the balance remaining of the deposits so covered shall, at the close of each month, be reported in the monthly public debt statement as debt of the United States bearing no interest.

Sec. 7. That this act shall take effect thirty days from and after its passage.

Mr. Bland Displeased.

The conference report was signed by the Republican conferrees only. Senator Harris and Representative Bland refused to sign it. Mr. Bland said to a reporter of the United Press last evening that he was not satisfied with the conference report, but he would present no minority report. "I have no doubt the report will be agreed to in the senate and house," said Mr. Bland. "The Republican party has agreed upon it, and it will be put through. I guess there is no doubt but that the president will sign it."

Buffalo "Bobbies" to Take the Census.

BUFFALO, July 8.—Supervisor Douglass has announced that the census of Buffalo was complete, and that the population is 250,122. He added that possibly some additions may be made yet, and would not be surprised if they increased the population to 255,000. At the citizens' meeting it was decided to consult with the mayor with regard to having the police take a census of the city in order to prove that the government count is incorrect.

Pitcher Green Suspended.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—Pitcher Green, of the Athletic Baseball club, has been suspended indefinitely by President Pennypacker. Green, it is said, asked for his release but was given no satisfaction. Manager Sharsig fully intended to take Green west, but because of his poor work in the box on Saturday decided to strike his name from the list.

The Big Log Raft Damaged.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The immense raft of logs which James D. Leary was having towed to this city from St. John, N. B., has been somewhat broken up by the waves, and has been towed into Portland harbor for repairs. Mr. Leary is confident that it can be patched up and brought to its destination safely.

A Philadelphia Domestic Tragedy.

PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—David Mason (colored) shot his wife in the shoulder, inflicting a slight wound. He then blew his own brains out. Mason was insanely jealous of his wife and frequently threatened to kill her.

Call for County Convention and Delegate Election.

The democratic voters will meet at the several places for the holding of the general election in their respective districts on Saturday, August 9th, 1890, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock p. m., and elect delegates to be sent to the County Convention and vote instructions for the persons there to be nominated, subject to the rules of the democratic party of the county. The delegates elected will meet in County Convention at the Court House, Bloomsburg, Pa., on Tuesday, August 12, 1890, at 11 o'clock a. m., and place in nomination one person for member of the U. S. House of Representatives for the Seventeenth Congressional District, one person for State Senator for the Twenty-fourth Senatorial District, two persons for members of House of Representatives of the state, one person for Associate Judge, one person for District Attorney, one person for Prothonotary and Clerk of the Courts, one person for Register and Recorder, one person for County Treasurer, two persons for County Commissioners, and two persons for County Auditors, and transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

WM. CHRISMAN,
Chairman.
C. B. ENT,
Secretary.

Apportionment of Delegates.

The following is the apportionment of delegates made by the Democratic standing committee at their last meeting. It is based upon the presidential vote of 1888. Briarcreek, Centre and Greenwood townships each gain one delegate, making 78 instead of 75 two years ago. The division of Greenwood township does not alter the result since that township now has 4 delegates, and each voting place is entitled to two delegates.

The Senior Class presented the Normal School with a fine crayon portrait of Dr. D. J. Waller on Class Day

The class of '90 at the Normal numbered 77, the largest ever graduated here. The prospects for a large class next year are bright.

Candidate J. F. Derr publishes a card in this issue announcing that illness has prevented him from making a canvass for the office of Associate Judge. Read what he has to say.

Manor Rest Inn at Jamison City is well patronized these hot days. Quite a number of summer boarders are quartered there, but the building is large, and the accommodations are ample for many more. The hotel is well kept and handsomely furnished, and all guests come away much pleased with their visit.

The ticket nominated by the Democratic State Convention at Scrantion last week is received with enthusiasm by Democrats all over the state. It deserves the warm and earnest support of every Democarat and it will have the support of every man in this commonwealth who is tired of the domination of Boss Quay, and who prefers an honest and upright man for Governor rather than one who has been denounced by some of the best men of his party as a corruptionist Between Pattison and Delamater there ought to be no hesitation. The one is beyond reproach; he has once filled the chair of the chief Executive with ability, and his selection as the standard bearer was the result of the demand of the people, and not the work of any one man nor of the politicians. Delamater is the creature of Quay, and his nomination was the work of the machine. If elected he will be the pliant tool of those who forced him upon the republican party. The people of Pennsylvania are called upon to choose between a man who if elected will fearlessly and conscientiously perform his duty, and one who is admittedly the creature of the machine politicians, and who has been publicaly accused of dishonest actions which he has not attempted to deny, by members of his own party. We cheerfully submit to the wisdom of the convention, and shall do all in our power to secure the success of the ticket nomnated at Scranton. A victory is within reach, and every Democrat should take off his coat and go to work. The majority to be overcome is large, it is true, but from every quarter of the state come the voices of republicans who will vote for Pattison because they are tired of wearing Quay's shackles. The majority was overcome in 1882, and we believe that in 1890 history will repeat itself, and the great old Keystone state will again be guided by an honest and fearless Democratic Governor.

It is delieved that the population of Pennsylvania will prove to be fully 5,000,000.

Candidate E. M. Tewksbury greets the democrats of this county in an article published in this issue. As usual with him, his card is full of meat. Read it, and see what he has to say for himself.

In accordance with many urgent solicitations from every section of the county, Peter A. Evans announces his name this week as a candidate for Representative. He is a farmer, and all his interests are with the farmers. He is not an office sekeer, and his candidacy is the result of a public demand for it rather than a desire on his part to hold office. Having consented to enter the field, of course he desires to succeed, and his claims will no doubt be warmly pressed by his friends.

The nomination of Governor Pattison makes the opportunity for the self-respecting Republicans of Pennsylvania to effectively express their discontent with the shameful control which now drags down their party. Certainly, Governor Pattison is a Democrat; but he is an upright and honorable citizen and in his relation to those affairs with which he will have to deal when he shall again be elected—the affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—he represents closely the principles which the mass of the Republican citizens of the State hold. He represents the demand of the people for the emancipation of State affairs from corporation control and from those evil and audacious influences which habitually misuse the functions of the Legisature. In both these particulars he is in absolute contrast to the candidate whom Mr. Quay has named. Mr. Delamater is in close partnership with corporate power and corporate schemes and he has proved himself by his course in the Legislature, the willing, prompt and capable agent of the under hand control which Mr. Quay exercises there.—Wharton Barker in The American.

The Farmer's Candidate

EDITORS COLUMBIAN.
DEAR SIR.

What is to be done for interest of the farmer in this County on the north side of the river? In different parts of the State the farmers are sending members to the legislature who are real farmers. On the south side there is a Candidate who farms and owns a farm, and the question is, what shall we do on the north side. I would suggest the name of Peter A. Evans of Montour township, as a man who would guard the interests of the farmer. Let the farmers show their strength by electing men to the legislature who will make laws for their interests.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C. July 7, 1890.

Senator Carlisle will make the speech of his life on the McKinley tariff bill, which was called up and the debate opened upon it by Senator Morrell in the Senate to-day. He has made many and important additions to the speech which his election to the Senate prevented his delivery in the House when the bill was before that body. and it is safe to predict that his speech will be the most widely read document in the coming Congressional Campaign, presenting, as it will, the exact position of the democratic party on that very important question. It has not been determined when Mr. Carlisle will speak but already advance orders for copies of his speech are pouring into Washington by every mail. It will be well for the tariff reform ideas of the democratic party to place this speech in the hands of every intelligent voter in the United States; it cannot fail to have a marked effect upon the Congressional elections.

There are forty-three states now, Idaho has been admitted to the Union, by the signature of the President. The Wyoming people had made every arrangement to hurry their bill into the hands of the President, when it was expected to to be passed by the House, the other day, and telegraphed the news to the people of that Territory that they might celebrate the Fourth of July in a lively style. But the whole plan was killed by the House not being in a working mood. There was no quorum present when the matter was brought up, and no members hanging around in sight, so that Speaker Reed could count one.

The Idaho people were more fortunate. Their bill had already passed both Houses and Delegate Dubois hurried to the White House with the copy that the news of the final passage of the bill might reach his constituents on the Fourth. He obtained the prompt signature of the President. Of coure it was no trouble for either party, when it was understood that the Territory was Republican.

The President called his attention to the fact that the star of Idaho would not be added to the flag for a year to come if he did not sign it until the 4th, as the law provides that on the admission of a new State into the Union, one star shall be added to the flag, on the Fourth of July next succeeding such admission. Mr. Dubois decided that he wanted the star added at once, and his state represented on the flag before another Fourth rolled around.

Hereafter every proper flag must contain forty-three stars. The notice was too short for even the government buildings here to have provided the additional star, on the Fourth.

The feeling of indignation over the atrocious measure of military interference, at elections in the South, has not subsided; it seems that the majority can never discover its mistakes until it is to late.

The Hot-spurs in the republican ranks are turning their attention to the Senate, and predicting terrible things, if it does not pass the election bill. They talk glibly of bringing "public opinion" upon reluctant senators, as though, for sooth, they really had a part of the decent sentiment of the country behind them. There is no indication. however, that the senators are to be dragooned into obedience by Speaker Reed's method.

The democratic congressional campaign committee are not employing any brass bands or attempting to make any hurrah in the preliminary stage of the campaign; but all the same it is working hard and intelligently to win the coming fight, and its members are quietly confident of success. It has completed one of the most carefully prepared books of the addresses of the working democrats in every congressional district in the United States, and under the capable management of chairman Roswell P. Fowler it may be relied upon to give a good account of itself when the battle is fought, which is to give the democrats control of the next house.

Mr. Harrison is expected to return to-morrow from his first visit to the Cape May cottage which those kind and disinterested people recently gave his wife.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND SOLDIERS, WIDOWS, MINORS AND PARENTS PENSIONED.

An Act granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor, and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents.

Be it enacted, etc, That in considering the pension claims of dependent parents, the fact of the soldier's death by reason of any wound, injury, casualty, or disease which under the conditions and limitations of existing laws would have entitled him to an invalid pension, and the fact that the soldier left no widow or minor children having been shown as required by law, it shall be necessary only to show by competent and sufficient evidence that such parent or parents are without other present means of support than their own manual labor or the contributions of others not legally bound for their support: Provided, That all pensions allowed to dependent parents under this act shall commence from the date of the filing of the application hereunder, and shall continue no longer than the existance of their dependence.

SEC. 2. That all persons who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late war of the rebellion and who have been honorably discharged therefrom, and who are now or who may hereafter be suffering from a mental or physical disability of a permanent character, not the result of their own vicious habits, which incapacitates them from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render them unable to earn a support, shall, upon making due proof of the fact according to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may provide, be placed upon the list of invalid pensioners of the United States, and be entitled to receive a pension not exceeding $12 per month, and not less than $6 per month, proportioned to the degree of inability to earn a support; and such pension shall commence from the date of the filing of the application in the Pension Office after the passage of this act, upon proof that the disability then existed, and shall continue during the existence of the same: Provided, That persons who are now receiving pension under existing laws, or whose claims are pending in the Pension Office, may, by application to the Commissioner of Pensions, in such form as he may prescribe, showing themselves entitled thereto, receive the benefits of this act; and nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any pensioner thereunder from prosecuting his claim and receiving his pension under any other general or special act: Provided, however. That no person shall receive more than one pension for the same period. And provided further, That rank in the service shall not be considered in applications filed under this act.

SEC. 3. That if any officer or enlisted man who served ninety days or more in the Army or Navy of the United States during the late war of the rebellion, and who was honorably discharged, has died, or shall hereafter die, leaving a widow without other means of support than her daily labor, or minor children under the age of sixteen years, such widow shall, upon due proof of her husband's death, without proving his death to be the result of his army service, be placed on the pension-roll from the date of the application therefor under this act, at the rate of $8 per month during her widowhood, and shall also be paid $2 per month for each child of such officer or enlisted man under sixteen years of age, and in case of the death or remarriage of the widow, leaving a child or children of such officer or enlisted man under the age of sixteen years, such pension shall be paid such child or children until the age of sixteen; Provided. That in case a minor child is insane, idiotic, or otherwise permanently helpless, the pension shall continue during the life of said child, or during the period of such disability, and this proviso shall apply to all pensions heretofore granted, or hereafter to be granted under this or any former statute, and such pension shall commence from the date of application therefor after the passage of this act: And provided further, That said widow shall have married said soldier prior to the passage of this act.

SEC. 4. That no agent, attorney or other person engaged in preparing, presenting or prosecuting any claim under the provisions of this act shall directly or indirectly, contract for, demand, receive or retain for such services in preparing, presenting or prosecuting such claim, a sum greater than $10, which sum shall be payable only upon the order of the Commissioner of Pensions, by the pension agent making payment of the pension allowed, and any person who will violate any of the provisions of this section, or who shall wrongfully withhold from a pensioner or claim allowed or due such pensioner or claimant under this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for each and every such offense, be fined not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding two years, or both in the discretion of the court

The Queen's Prize Competition.

Ten familiar quotations from standard authors appear each month under this heading in the CANADIAN QUEEN, and the publishers of this popular magazine offer $50.00 in cash prizes each month to those naming the largest number of the authors from whom the quotations are taken. This is a most practical way of encouraging the study of standard authors and will interest every intelligent reader. A sample copy of the QUEEN with full particulars and list of quotations will be mailed to any address for five 2c stamps. The subscription price is only $1.00 per year. The Virtues of the Onion.

If I should be asked what was the best substitute for quinine I should say onions. Time and again the sleep producing virtues of the loud smelling onion have been sung, but comparatively few know how valuable it is a cure for chills and ague. Several customers explained their boycott on quinine by saying onions are cheaper and quite as effective, and one man in particular, who has been a martyr to malaria for years, has been another being since he acquired the habit of chewing onion peel. The onion is used frequently to cure rheumatism with varying success, but I never heard of its failing when persevered in as a cure for malaria or chills.—Exchange.

Drunkenness—Liquor Habit—In all the World there is but one cure Dr. Haines' Golden Specific

It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it, effecting a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been cured who have taken the Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. No harmful effect results from its administration Cures guaranteed. Send for circular and full particulars. Address in confidence GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.—10-25 1y

Waller.

Abner Everhart is visiting his parents and friends at this place.

H. H. Hirleman and Henry Wagner were among the number that took in sights of Bloomsburg on Saturday from this place.

John Kline of Sugarloaf raised his barn on Saturday. Mr. Kline is putting up a nice barn.

Several from this place went to Richart's Grove to a Sunday School Picnic and a Dance on the fourth and others went up to Central. The latest reports we have been able to obtain of the glorious fourth is that it was a very hard day on original packages.

This week, perhaps, is the busicst of the year, for the farmers in this part of the county. The harvest is now ripe and but little hay has yet been made.

Rev. S. I. Shortess preached an instructive sermon Sunday forenoon. In the course of his remarks he mentioned the fact, that some professors of religion will put forth no more effort for the cause than to come to church of a Sunday occasionally and sit in their pews in a sleepy, half dreamy state all through the services. He knew the congregation to whom he was talking and perhaps it might be well for others to stop and meditate on this truth. We say the truth because we know it to be a fact although we are sorry to say it.

Mark wore out three copies of last weeks COLUMBIAN, in searching for the Waller Item and then could not find them and is yet liable to get into trouble for borrowing papers without asking for them. Give us a place in your columns this week or he will throw down his pen and—go west.

MARK TAPELY.

How It Was.

At the battle of Gettysburg I was shot through the left leg and was sent to the hospital. The army surgeons relieved me but pronounced my case incurable. It discharged pieces of bone, and for several years I have suffered with a running sore. I tried everything which my limited means would allow, and experienced no relief until I tried Sulphur Bitters. I am now almost well and shall continue their use.—Old Soldier. 7-4-2t.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsarilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." The Lutheran Sunday School of Bloomsburg, will hold a basket picnic at Central on Thursday July 31. Excursion tickets will be issued at a low rate. All who wish a day of enjoyment in the mountain should avail themselves of this opportunity. Preparations are being made to make it the largest excursion of the season.

The Blaine Republicans who shout for a high tariff have a very difficult nut to crack. If they agree with the Maine statesman's idea of free reciprocity with all American nations they will find it difficult to explain why the same theory should not prevail with the rest of the world. Hedging on protection in one direction upsets the entire structure.

The Zanerian Art College is the name of an institution in Columbus, Ohio, of which C. P. Zaner is President and L. M. Kelchner is secretary and treasurer. Both of these young men are natives of Columbia county. They give instructions in all branches of penmanship, and both are very skillful in the use of the pen, from writing a card to a diploma or portrait. They are well deserving of success.

Col. R. Bruce Ricketts has gone to Europe to perfect the sale of the North Mountain timber land to an English syndicate. Colonel Ricketts and Col. B. K. Levi Steinmetz and W. J. Barry, of the Girard House office staff, Philadelphia, have compiled a neat eighty-page pamphlet entitled "Philadelphia and its places of Interest," which is intended for distribution among the guests of the Girard. The work comprises forty pages of reading matter and as many are devoted to advertising, which latter fact insures the enterprising young men a nice little profit for their labor.

There will be a Hess re-union at the grove of Reuben Hess at Rupert, on Thursday, August 21st. The first re-union was held last year, but on account of the stormy day there was not near the attendance that would have been had it been a pleasant day. However, an organization was made by electing Stephen Hess of Easton, as president, and Cora L. Hess of Rupert as secretary. A resolution was also passed that an annual re-union would be held.

No paper can be published without home patronage, and every one is interested in keeping up a home paper. If a railroad or factory is wanted, the news-papers are expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted for any purpose, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a supper or reception of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the schools and everybody else, to advance the interests of the business men of the place, and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away. And yet some of them do nothing to keep up a home newspaper.

Mrs. Stonge of Grovania met with an accident Tuesday morning. She was in attendance at market, and having sold all her fruits, made some purchases at I. W. McKelvy's store, was about to get in the spring wagon when the horse started on a fast trot. Mrs. Stonge held to the lines, running alongside the wagon and calling to the horse to stop; when about the center of Market square she was thrown headlong upon the ground, receiving bruises about the body and face. The horse being relieved started at a more rapid gait but was caught by C. A. Kleim. Mrs. Stonge was taken back to I. W. McKelvy's store, and after resting for awhile started for her home.

The Bloomsburg Water Company have laid a number of 12 inch pipes leading from the engine house and also to the mains, for use in fire protection. The large pipe will be continued above the reservoir, to the site for the new reservoir, which will be built next season. Monday evening the connection was made with the mains. At about 11 o'clock a number of citizens went to see the pipe broken while pressure was upon it. The water was shut off at the resevoir, but a column of water remained in the pipe equal to about 50 feet. The heavy pipe was struck twice with a large sledge when the water shot up in a volume of about 6 inches, and throwing a spray many feet around. It lasted only a minute until the pipe was drained, when the connection of new pipe was made and at sunrise water was again turned on the main.

The inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier should be known to every wife and mother. It corrects irregularities, gives tone and strength to the vital organs, and cleanses the system of all impurities. The best family medicine.

Complaints are general throughout the county that the census has not been properly taken. Bloomsburg seems to be satisfied with the work of its enumerators, Messrs, Peacock and Kline. The result is not as large as was expected, but this is not the fault of the enumerators.

According to semi-official figures given the population of our chief cities will be New York, 1,627,227, Chicago 1,085,000, Philadelphia 1,040,450, Brooklyn, 930,670, Baltimore 500,000, St. Louis 440,000, Boston 417,720. Official figures may somewhat change these results. The population of Williamsport is given as 27,000, a gain of only 8000, Easton 14,045, a gain of but little over 2000, Reading 58,702, a gain of over 15,000.

The worst cases of scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases of the blood, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Base Ball.

The game of base ball played Saturday last between the Bloomsburg and Shamokin clubs was the weakest game of the season. The Shamokin club had played against the Danville club the day previous with a score of 15 to 0 in favor of Danville. They came up here bringing three of the Danville players, Reed, Ammerman and Hoffner, in order to strengthen their team sufficient to defeat Bloomsburg; in this they were deceived as the score shows a result of 21 to 3 in favor of Bloomsburg. The three runs of the Shamokin team were made by the Danville boys. The following is the score in full:

Closing Scenes at the Normal.

After the presentation of diplomas at the Normal Commencement exercises last week Thursday, Prof. D. J. Waller performed the closing act of his Principalship by handing over the keys of the institution to William Neal, President of the Board of Trustees. He spoke feelingly of his long connection with the school, and of the courteous treatment he had always received from the Board. He also spoke of the Faculty, and gave them their full share of credit for the present prosperous condition of the school. Mr. Neal responded, and accepted the keys with regret, though he was glad to be able to hand them over to a worthy successor. He then presented the keys to Prof. J. P. Welsh the new Principal, who accepted the responsibility in a few well chosen words.

ALUMNI MEETING

A meeting of the Alumni was held in the chapel at one o'clock. Dr. Waller presided. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Pres., Prin. J. P. Welsh; V. Pres., Prof. A. W. Moss, Ashley, Pa; Rec. Sec. Katie Young; Cor. Sec Sara M. Harvey; Treas. Mr. H. G. Supplee; Executive committee: Chairman, Prof. G. E. Wilbur, Ex-Supt. J. S. Grimes, Supt. Will C. Johnson, Miss Eva Rupert, Mrs. Grant Herring; Essavist, Miss Irene Sears; Orator, Prof. Wm. Noetling.

THE DINNER.

At two o'clock the hall intended for the Manual Training department, in the new wing of the Dormitory, was thrown open, where a collation awaited the Alumni, the Faculty, the Trustees and the friends. In the centre of the hall was a long table loaded down with good things, and small tables and chairs filled the room. The gentlemen were requested to serve the viands, and this duty they performed like trained waiters. The dinner was provided by the school, and the menu embraced ham and tongue sandwiches, coffee, pickles, cake, bananas, oranges, bon-bons, nuts, raisins, lemonade and ice cream. It was the unanimous verdict that it was the most successful event of the kind in the history of the school. Heretofore the dinner has been served at one of the hotels, and the attendance has been from 50 to 80 people. The formality of a course dinner rendered them rather stiff affairs. Two hundred or more partook of the collation last week, and all formality was dispensed with. Mr. and Mrs. Stiles and their assistants prepared the refreshments, and a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered them for the very satisfactory manner in which they discharged their duty.

When all appetites were appeased, Dr. Waller called for order, and a course of mental pabulum was begun. The following program was presented: Song, Mess. Yost, Sears, Bidleman, Yetter. Col. Freeze responded to "The Legal Profession," Dr. Honora Robbins, "The Medical Profession," Supt. B. R. Johnson, "The Teacher," Miss Mary R. Curran, "The Coming Woman," Prof. J. P. Welsh, "The Normal School," C. G. Barkley Esq., "The Trustees," Miss Rose Sickler, "The Class of '90." Miss Bertha Colvin sang a solo, with guitar accompaniment, and then all joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," which closed the exercises.

The Seniors held a reception in the school parlors in the evening.

A Spring Medicine.

The druggists claim that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick-headache, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 50 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine.

A SUMMER TRIP.

On the 21st day of June it was the privilege of the writer to set out on a trip to Boston, for the purpose of attending the Sixth Annual Convention of the National Editorial Association. Taking the cars at Bloomsburg our party of four, reached Northumberland, without incident worthy of note. It was a stormy day, and the rain made travelling more pleasant by settling the dust. At Northumberland we boarded the Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the most liberal corporations in the State. In my travels through the states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts I found nowhere more comfortable and elegant appointments, or more considerate treatment than at the hands of the Pennsylvania. The most luxurious coaches, the most rapid locomotives, the most polite employees, road beds free from dust by reason of stone ballast, rendered the trip while on the line of this company, a most delightful one. We reached New York in the evening at about six o'clock, and registered at the Hotel Glenham. Shortly after being shown to our rooms we were waited upon by the bell boy, who asked if we were entirely satisfied with our quarters. Not being just what we wanted we were given more desirable rooms. This extra attention at a fashionable metropolitan hotel, being somewhat unusual, was a subject of comment, and we could not understand it until we learned that the proprietor of the house, Mr. N. B. Barry, formerly was the Proprietor of the Herdic House at Williamsport, and his chief clerk, Mr. John D. Ward, was at one time the proprietor of the Valley House at Wilkes-Barre. Our names being familiar to the latter secured us many courtesies. The Glenham is located on Fifth Avenue, below 22nd street. It is not a large hotel, but it is homelike, and everything about it is comfortable and pleasant, and it is free from the hurly-burly of larger houses The table is run on the European plan, and the cooking is unsurpassed. We would advise our friends to try the Glenham, while in New York.

The forenoon of the first day in New York was spent in Central Park. It would be presumptuous to attempt to describe a spot so well known. Among the points of interest here are the lakes, the statues, the Mall, the Zoological garden, Cleopatra's needle, the Art Gallery, and the lovely drives. Hundreds of acres of land are inclosed in the park, and it is all kept like a beautiful lawn. We could not help contrasting it with Fairmount Park in Philadelphia, which latter place we visited on our return journey. Fairmount seems to be turned to utility rather than beauty, and its broad acres are devoted to raising hay rather than to the cultivation of lawns.

In the afternoon a trip was made to Coney Island, when we met eight other people from Bloomsburg by chance. Their names have already appeared in the COLUMBIAN. Coney Island is the great resort for New Yorkers who can spend but a day or two at the seashore. There are magnificent hotels, and cheap eating houses. All kinds of entertainments abound, including minstrel shows, merry-go-rounds, toboggan slides, razzle-dazzles and hundreds of catch pennies. These are all in operation seven days in the week, and Sunday is their especial harvest. The bathing is good here and thousands of people in bathing suits lined the shore.

Our second day in New York was spent in visiting the Stock Exchange, included a trip over the Brooklyn bridge, one of the most wonderful pieces of mechanical engineering in the world, and an inspection of Trinity Church. In the church-yard is a monument erected to the memory of Capt. James Lawrence of "Don't give up the ship" fame. He was killed June 15, 1813 while commander of the Chesapeak, in an action with the British vessel Shannon, off Boston Harbor. Capt. Lawrence was a cousin of my great-grandmother. We also visited the building of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, from the roof of which is obtained a magnificent view of the city. The building is eleven stories in height and towers above all its surroundings. In this building Charles Unangst Esq. has his office, and we made him a brief call. He is very pleasantly located, and commands a large law practice.

At 5.30 on Monday, June 23, we boarded a steamer of the Norwich line. The steamer was crowded with passengers, many of them being editors and their wives on their way to Boston, from almost every state in the Union. Badges were at once produced and pinned on the coat, showing where each one was from. It did not take long to become acquainted, and the hours until midnight were passed in social enjoyment. New London was reached at one o'clock in the morning, but the passengers were not aroused until 3, when they took a train for Boston, arriving there at 7 a. m. The Norwich line of which I spoke last week, extended the courtesies of transportation to the delegates to the convention. Their boats are swift and safe and the treatment received from the hands of the officers and employees was courteous and considerate. These boats leave daily from Watts street New York, and the fare to Boston is only $4.00. Excellent meals can be obtained on the steamer.

BOSTON.

About the first thing that strikes a stranger on his arrival at the "Hub" is the crooked streets. The city, at least the older portion of it, does not seem to be laid in accordance with any plan. The streets run in every direction like net work, and all the corners are acute or obtuse angles. It is said that the streets were laid out on cow paths, and I believe it. And I also believe that the cows that made those paths did not have any particular point in view when they started out, but simply wandered aimlessly about without a compass. The dome of the State capitol is of gilt, and is said that it can be seen from any point on entering the city, as it stands on a hill near the famous Common. Taking the dome as a guide one morning I started towards it, but the street was so crooked that when I again got a glimpse of the dome I was farther from it than when I started. I made several efforts to reach it, but each time with the same result, the winding streets carrying me off to some more distant point. Finally I took a street car, and thus reached my destination.

When you inquire of a Bostonian concerning the location of any particular point he does not tell you as in Philadelphia, that it is so many blocks away. He tells you how many minutes walk it is.

Among the points of interest visited were the Commons, the Public Gardens, rich in rare tropical plants, the Art Building, Trinity Church, of which the famous Dr. Phillips Brooks is rector, Harvard College, Bunker Hill Monument, the Museum, Old South Church, Boston Harbor of which I wrote last week, the old grave yard dating back to 1620, where the parents of Benjamin Franklin, and Samuel Adams are buried. We also saw the elm under which Washington took command of the American troops in 1775. A marble tablet records this fact. The hospitality of Boston people is delightful. Every possible attention was shown the visitors, and nothing more could have been done to make our stay agreeable.

On Wednesday June 25, leaving the others of our party in Boston I went down to the beautiful city of Hartford, Conn., where I met nine of my college classmates, and we held a reunion to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of our graduation in the class of 1870 at Trinity College. I returned to Boston next day.

Of Boston, the proud and wealthy city, rich in historical memories, cultured and refined, columns might be written, but this is not the time or place. Every history is full of it.

On Saturday morning, June 28, we boarded the cars of the Old Colony railroad and went to Newport, R. I. the most fashionable resort in America. It is on Narragansett Bay, five miles from the ocean. It is on a declivity facing the harbor, and has a state house, custom house, city hall, the Redwood Library, containing 20,000 volumes, and other public buildings. The "old stone mill" is one of its chief attractions. No one seems to know when this structure was built. It has been a theme of much learned discussion. It stands in a little park in the heart of the city and is surrounded by an iron railing. It is circular in form, being probably 30 feet in diameter, and is supported on seven pillars. It is built of small stones and mortar, and whatever its origin, it is wonderful how it has withstood the ravages of time. It looks as though it might have been built but yesterday. It is asserted by some antiquaries to have been built by the Northmen 500 years before Columbus discovered America, and this is the theory that the Newport people like to encourage. But the probabilities are that it was a wind mill erected by one of the early governors of the colony some distance this side of Columbus.

Bellevue Avenue, lined with beautiful villas, is one of the finest streets in the land. It is the principle thoroughfare, and at fashionable hours is crowded with elegant equipages. Horses of the highest breed, harness mounted in gold or silver; coachmen and footmen in the grandest liveries, after the most approved "English" style, can be seen everywhere. Our attention was particularly attracted by an equipage in mourning. A lady dressed in deep black sat in a luxurious carriage, the coachman and footman were attired in black broadcloth, the horses were black, the harness was black, and the pug dog on the lady's lap had on a black blanket. It was to me a most remarkable exhibition of grief, for it seemed as though there could be but little heartfelt sorrow where there was so much outward display. But perhaps I do not understand the ways of the fashionable world. It may be that such an exhibition is just the proper caper among the millionaires who spend their summers in this beautiful city. Among the most attractive summer homes here are those of the Astors, the Vanderbuilts, the Goolets, and other New York millionaires.

In the evening we took a sail in the harbor in what is known as a "cat boat." It is a sail boat about 25 feet long and about 10 feet wide. The captain was a life long sailor, and was thoroughly familiar with the harbor. He was very polite and made our trip a pleasant one by calling attention to all points of interest. Among them were Fort Adams, one of the most costly and expensive fortifications in the United States, the Purgatory Rocks, the Hanging Rocks, Spouting Cave, the Glen, the ruined Fort Louis, at the entrance of the harbor, and its surrounding rocks called the Dumplings. It was nearly sunset as we started out, and the waters of the harbor were as smooth as glass. We sailed in and out among the yachts of the Newport fleet anchored there, and the captain pointed out to us many well known vessels belonging to wealthy men of New York. We passed Lime Rock Light house the home of Grace Darling, who in her time has saved eleven lives. She lives on a comfortable salary paid by the government, and keeps a red light burning at night. At the upper end of the bay is the new house being erected by Mr. Morgan. It is almost indesribable in architecture. It stands on a bluff, and seems to rise out out of the rock. It is more Grecian than otherwise, and is reached from inland by a stone bridge. From the water it can only be reached by climbing nearly 100 feet of almost perpendicular rock. It is hard to tell which is the front of the house, but I should say that the back of it is the front of it. As we sailed around the bluff we saw the remains of the Bessie Rogers, a vessel that was sunk by colliding with another ship. She was drawn to the shore, and the hole in the side made by the other vessel can be plainly seen.

As we returned down the harbor the scene was a very brilliant one. All the yachts were illuminated by electric lights, and on their decks were gay and brilliant parties of ladies and gentlemen, some singing and some dancing to fine music. We sailed so close to some of them that it seemed as though a collision was inevitable, but our skillful captain always steered us clear of danger.

But time passes on, and we must hasten to the pier of the Fall River Steamer which we are to take for New York. Our captain lands us there safely, and we bid him farewell.

Shortly after 9 o'clock there appears in sight what looks like a floating palace. As it lands at the pier it looks a veritable Leviathan. The magnificent steamer Puritan is before us, the finest boat that navigates Long Island Sound. We had heard before of the magnificence of the boats of the Fall River Line, but this surpasses all our expectations. As we enter we find luxuriance on every side. Strains of delicious music fill the air, and as we enter the grand saloon we find it comes from an orchestra of 15 pieces stationed on the second deck. Our state rooms, previously secured in Boston are soon found. and after depositing our luggage we are ready to enjoy the sail down the sound. It was a perfect night. The moon shone on the waters, and we clambered to the upper deck. Here were life boats and rafts, and life preservers, and all the means of safety in case of accident, but we had no need for them. The sound was as calm as a mill pond, and the steamer moved without any perceptible motion. Years ago when a young man I used to steam up and down the sound, but I never in all my experience found a more perfect night. On the boat were a number of Yale students just from the races at New London, where Yale beat Harvard, and they made the night resound with cheers for Yale. They also sang some college songs which carried us back some twenty years, but we refrained from joining in the chorus for fear of frightening the passengers. The night passed and we landed in New York. Taking the Pennsylvania train we reached Philadelphia on Sunday morning, June 29th, and on Monday morning we continued our journey home, after ten days of one of the most delighted trips of our lives.

But just here I want to say that of all the sights of Boston Harbor, of Fall River, of Long Island Sound, or anywhere, we saw nothing more beautiful, nothing more attractive than the green hills, and the lovely scenery of the Susquehanna valley of the old Keystone State.

Several cases of scarlet fever are reported in town. It is impossible to take too many precautions to prevent the spread of this disease.

Democrats, Attention!

Thanking you for the kindly sentiment and encouragement I receive from all parts of the county, either by visit or report, I desire to say to you all, I will visit every election district, and canvass it as much as possible, in which there is no candidate for Legislature, before August 9th, if my health permits. Please remember, that, though I have before been beaten for nomination, I never sulked, kicked or ran as an independent candidate, but have always supported the ticket as made; that in politics I have never been anything but a Democrat.

I think my long faithful service to the party, as well as hearty support of candidates, privately and on the stump, without asking what was their nationality, creed, or private and personal opinions, only that they were the regular nominees of the Democratic party, entitles me at this time to your support. If nominated and elected, I pledge you a faithful service as Representative, supporting the platform and measures of the party, and in all things obeying the will of my constituency, regardless of my own private opinions; that upon questions of party interest, the party caucus would be my rule of action; that upon questions of public concern, the peoples' will would be my law.

I desire to pledge you my word that I have no personal objects upon which legislation is asked, and that I will faithfully labor for, and in the interest of the people.

Prohibition Convention.

The Prohibition party of Columbia county met in convention in the hall of the P. O. S. of A. at Berwick, Pa, on the 5th inst and was called to order by J. B. Patton, chairman of county committee, soon after ten o'clock a. m. After being entertained by several pieces of music by the band the convention was opened by music by the choir, and prayer by Rev. P. S. Brewster of Berwick.

The chairman of county committee made a few introductory remarks, after which the convention was organized by the election of Isaiah Bower, president; Wm. Maney and Aaron Smith, vice presidents, and S. W. Dickson, Secretary.

Minutes of convention held at Millville, Pa., 8, 17, 1889, were read and approved. The morning session was taken up with the appointment of committees, listening to short addresses and music. Closed to meet at 1:30 p. m.

Afternoon session called to order near the time appointed. Opened with music, and prayer by Rev. H. A. Straub, of Orangeville.

Committee on permanent organization reported the names of S. W. Dickson, of Berwick, for chairman of county committee, T. C. Wilson, Millville, secretary, M. P. Lutz, Bloomsburg, treasurer, W. A. Pitts, Orangeville, and J. B. Eves, Millville, members of executive committee.

Committee on delegates to State convention reported the names of John Eves and wife, Millville, alternates, Aaron Kester and wife; W. A. Pitts and wife, Orangeville, alternates, C. B. White and wife; Wm. Maney and wife, Berwick alternates, S. W. Dickson and wife; M. P. Lutz and wife, Bloomsburg, alternates, E. M. Kester and wife.

Commitee on resolutions reported the following:

Resolved, That we endorse the work of the State and National committees, and that we will do all we can to assist them in the future.

Resolved, That we see in the signs of the times, and in the success of our cause in the past, that the cause of truth and righteousness is gaining ground, and that we believe in the ultimate success of the cause we have espoused.

The reports of the committees were adopted by the convention.

The following nominations were made: Representatives, George Moorehead, W. A. Pitts; Prothonotary, G. A. Potter; Register and Recorder, Hiram Whitmire; Treasurer, R. L. Kline; Commissioner, Aaron Kester; District Attorney, S. W. Dickson; Associate Judge, Isaiah Bower, Senatorial conferees, J. B. Patton, G. A. Potter, instructed to vote for M. P. Lutz for State Senator.

Resolutions tendering the thanks of the convention to the prohibitionists of Berwick for their kindness and hospitality and to Dr. J. B. Patton, retiring chairman, for his able and untiring efforts in behalf of our cause, were adopted. A rising vote of thanks was tendered to the members of the P. O. S. of A. for the use of their hall; also to the band who entertained the convention with music in the morning.

The convention was enlivened throughout by music and a number of short and interesting addresses. The business for which the convention was called being transacted the audience was dismissed with the benediction,

New Horse Disease.

A number of farmers and other owners of horses in the vicinity of Pinegrove, Schuylkill county, complain of a very annoying disease which has appeared among their horses, whether at work or idle. The animals are seized with a sudden, violent cough, which frequently lasts about ten minutes, during which period they are hardly able to work. Thus far no fatal cases are reported.

The Iron Car Co. to be Reorganized.

The creditors of the Iron Car Co., of New York, which failed six weeks ago, are pleased at the announcement that the company will be reorganized, as a syndicate composed of Brown Bros. & Co., Poost, Martin & Co., and other bankers, will, it is said, put $600,000 capital in the company. The creditors are to be paid in full. Partly by notes of the reorganized company and partly by 5 per cent. bonds of the new company are said to be excellent. These creditors who hold joint obligations of the Iron Car Co., will have their notes and bonds guaranteed by the Minnesota Co.

The Bloomsburg Car Company were creditors to the amount of $20,000, but through the reorganization they will lose nothing.

The census of Bloomsburg shows that the population numbers 4654. It was expected that it would reach five or six thousand, and some disappointment is expressed at the result.

The growth of the town is shown by the following figures: In 1820 the population was 1626; in 1830, 2081; in 1840, 1774; in 1850, 3122; in 1860 2668; 1870, 3340; in 1880 3702. The increase in the last decade has been 952. With its present prosperity, and the numerous new industries, the next ten years ought to show a much larger per centage of increase than ever before. There is a reason for the slowness of growth from 1870 to 1880. Before that time the mining of iron ore gave employment to a large number of men. Most of the mines have been worked out, and a great many of those who earned their living by delving under ground have sought other fields, and moved away with their families. Ten or fifteen years ago it was an every day sight to see four horse teams hauling ore through the streets of the town. Now only an occasional wagon load is to be seen. Most of the ore used at the furnaces is brought from Snyder county, Maryland and Virginia. But with the decline of this means of employment new industries have arisen, and there is every reason to believe that our town is destined to grow as never before.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the West Chester Normal School last week, the following resolutions of regret at the resignation of Prof. Welsh and wife were passed unanimously:

Resolved; That in the removal of Professor J P. Welsh to another place of usefulness the West Chester State Normal School has sustained a loss not easily repaired, and that the Board of Trustees, in accepting his resignation, do desire to place upon record their unanimous testimony, not only to his trained ability as a teacher and to the unusual success that has marked his connection with this institution, but do also at the same time attest his purity and uprightness of character, his rare executive talent and his peculiar fitness for the instruction and government of youth.

Resolved; That the Trustees of the West Chester State Normal School, in accepting the resignation of Mrs. Alma Sager Welsh, while they cannot refrain from an expression of deep regret in parting with one who has by many years of service added dignity and worth to the institution, they at the same time have great pleasure in testifying to her extraordinary zeal and enthusiasm as an instructor, her constant and unfailing kindness in her intercourse with her pupils, her faithful performance of every duty, and above all to her sincere and lofty character as a Christian woman.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. VALUABLE LAW POINTS.

THE SIMPLE STEPS NECESSARY TO LOCATE A HOMESTEAD.

An Ex-Soldier and a Citizen Have to Take Different Courses of Procedure. These Are Herein Described in Detail. The Ex-Soldier Has the Advantage.

The steps to be taken by a citizen of the United States to entitle him to become the possessor of 160 acres of government land are exceedingly simple and the expense is trifling.

The first step, of course, is to select the land desired. Information as to the location of the public lands can be obtained from the land office at Washington. After the site has been selected, the next step is to make an affidavit before the register or receiver of the local land office in the state where the homestead is located, setting forth that the applicant is the head of a family or is 21 or more years of age, or has performed service in the army or navy of the United States; that the application is made for his exclusive use and benefit, and that it is made for the purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, and neither directly or indirectly for the use or benefit of any other person. On filing this affidavit a fee of $10 is payable.

A further condition of obtaining a patent or evidence of title to the land from the government is actual residence on the land or cultivation of it during five years, which must be proved by two witnesses, and who must further show that no part of the land has been sold or otherwise alienated. The law does not require any fee for the issue of the patent.

The procedure in the case of an honorably discharged soldier or sailor is somewhat different, and the time of his residence or cultivation of the land is shorter. He has six months after locating his homestead and filing a declaratory statement within which to commence his settlement and improvement, and if he has served four years in the army or navy, or was enlisted for that time and discharged on account of wound received or disability incurred in the line of duty, he may perfect his title by residence or cultivation for the period of one year. In other words, the term of his service in the army or navy is deducted from the five years' residence or cultivation required of other persons.

The registry fee of one dollar for each declaratory statement filed, a commission to be paid by the homestead applicant at the time of entry of 1 per cent. on the cash price as fixed by law of the land applied for, a like commission when the claim is finally established and a certificate issued therefor, and a fee of five dollars for the final certificate issued by the local land agent as the basis of the patents, constitute the total expense required of the sailor or soldier in the preemption of his homestead.

Be Wary of Killing.

In an article in The Law we find the following, which aptly points out several popular misconceptions of the law: "A man has an especial right to defend himself, if attacked in his own dwelling house, and he may prevent a burglarious entry by slaying the aggressor. In all such cases, however, the excuse for taking life has its strict limitation in necessity. A man, for example, has no right to slay a burglar whom he finds in his house, unless to prevent the burglary or to protect life from the assault of the burglar.

"The popular notion as to the existence of a sort of general right to kill a burglar, merely because he is a burglar and is found in one's house, is entirely erroneous. The pastime of 'taking a crack' at a burglar when he is retreating finds no sanction in law. The burglar has not forfeited his life to the injured party, and if the latter deliberately takes it without such necessity as is here pointed out, the law treats such act as murder. Even in the case of an injured husband finding the guilty parties in delicto, the provocation is legally deemed sufficient merely to reduce his act of killing either or both of the parties to the grade of manslaughter.

"So likewise in the case of an officer who makes an arrest, killing the prisoner is not excusable unless he resists and flees, and cannot be otherwise overtaken, and even then the right to resort to such extremity is confined to the case of arrests for that grave class of crimes designated as felonies, such as homicide, arson, robbery or burglary." In respect to the burglar the practical result is that the jury always believe a man's life in danger from the mere presence of the burglar, and the injured husband is always crazy. We do not remember any case, however, where an officer has been let off for killing an escaping misdemeanant.—Albany Law Journal.

"The Law Merchant."

This expression is frequently met with in the decisions of courts and in their reports of trial of important cases, and means the common law, which has grown out of the usages of trade and business in their application to mercantile contracts, and is used in contradistinction to the statute law, which are statutory provisions relating to statutory law passed by the legislatures referring to any particular branch in trade. It includes the customs which have become law relative to shipping, insurance, negotiable bills of exchange and promissory notes, checks and ordinary contracts of purchase and sale.

A Roland for an Oliver.

While cross-examining Dr. Warren a New York counsel declared that a doctor ought to be able to give an opinion of a disease without making mistakes.

"They make fewer mistakes than the lawyers," responded the physician.

"That's not so," said the counselor; "but doctors' mistakes are buried six feet under ground, a lawyer's are not."

"No," replied Warren; "but they are sometimes hung as many feet above ground."—Montreal Legal News.

A Corpse Seven Hundred Years Old

A tomb has been opened recently at Canterbury Cathedral with the object of discovering the identity of the body and the evidence points to Herbert Walter, who died Archbishop in 1204. The body found in the tomb, though it has been lying there nearly or quite seven hundred years, was only partially decomposed. A number of articles of great antiquarian interest were found in the tomb and removed to the Cathedral library. Most of them were in an excellent state of preservation. They were a silver chalice and paten as good as new, the Archbishop's pastrol staff, a gold ring with large emerald having a curious device, silk boots ornamented with gold thread and garnets, a yellow silk mitre and embroidered sole, etc. Presumably the body had been embalmed in some way, or was preserved by the conditions of its surroundings.—English Mechanic.

"Hunger Is The Best Sauce."

As a rule, a person who has a good appetite has good health. But how manny there are who enjoy nothing they eat, and sit down to meals only as an unpleasant duty. Nature's antidotes for this condition are so happily combinded in Hood's Sarsaparilla that it soon restores good digestion, creates an appeite, and renovates and vitalizes the blood so that the beneficial effect of good food is imparted to the whole body. Truly hunger is the best sauce, and Hood's Sarsaparilla induces hunger.

£500 REWARD
CAT
Copyright, 1889.

The equivalent, in English money, of $2.50 was once offered by an old lady in London for the return of a favorite cat which had strayed or been stolen. People called her a "crank," and perhaps she was. It is unfortunate that one of the gentler sex should ever gain this title, yet many do. It is, however, frequently not their fault. Often functional derangements will apparently change a woman's entire nature. Don't blame such sufferers if they are "cranky," but tell them to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is an infallible remedy for "female weaknesses."

"Favorite Prescription" has cured thousands of poor, bed-ridden suffering women of "female weakness," painful irregularities, ulcerations, organic displacements and kindred ailments too numerous to mention. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee that it will, in every case, give satisfaction or the price ($1.00) will be refunded.

A Deistical Doctor's Discomforture.

A Clergyman was once accosted by a doctor, a professed deist, who asked him: "Do you follow preaching to save souls?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever smell a soul?"

"No."

"Did you ever feel a soul?"

"Yes."

"Well," said the doctor, "there are four of the five senses against one upon the question whether there be a soul."

The clergyman then asked, "Are you a doctor of medicine?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever hear a pain?"

"No."

"Did you ever taste a pain?',

"No."

"Did you ever smell a pain?',

"No."

"Did you ever feel a pain?"

"Yes."

"Well, then," said the clergyman, "There are also four senses against one upon the question whether there be a pain. And yet sir, you know that there is a pain and I know that there is a soul."—St. Louis Republic.

That Was Different

There were twelve or fifteen men sitting around in a Buffalo saloon, when a stranger to all entered, stood by the door and ask in a loud voice:

"Gentlemen, is there one among you who will help a poor discouraged man to—"

He appeared to choke up right there and while clearing his voice it was noticed that two or three men slid out the back door, several others turned their backs and one man suddenly went to sleep. Each one assumed an attitude or demeanor calculated to discourage the stranger, but he presently got his voice and continued:

"Who will help a poor, discouraged man to drink a dollar's worth of beer?"

"I will!" yelled every man in the place in chorous and a grand rush was made for the bar.—New York Sun.

The Conquest of States.

The discussion of the Federal election bill has brought forward arguments which show how dominant parties control the election machinery in the several states. The Philadelphia Press last week made a comparison of three Southern States, South Carolina, Mississippi, and Georgia with Kansas, New Jersey and Tennessee. We cannot understand why they should make the comparison with but one republican State viz: Kansas, unless they could not find any other republican state where elections were held with free ballot. Here is the comparison they made with South Carolina and Kansas.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS VOTE OF 1886.

South Carolina. District	Vote.	Kansas. District.	Vote
First	3,317	First	31,287
Second	5,223	Second	34,792
Third	4,409	Third	36,718
Fourth	4,480	Fourth	35,084
Fifth	4,701	Fifth	25,996
Sixth	4,449	Sixth	33,025
Seventh	12,474	Seventh	61,465

By a comparison with the presidential vote of 1884 two years preceding it will be found that South Carolina polled 91,578 votes and Kansas 265,374 against 39,078 for South Carolina and 381,365 for Kansas two years later It is quite probable that there was no control in South Carolina as there was less than half of the votes polled, while in Kansas there were 6000 more votes polled for congressmen than for President. If lack of votes is attributed to suppression we might with the same degree attribute suppression of the ballot in this district, for in 1886 there were but 4,044 votes cast while in 1888 there were 7356. We might also compare the third district Philadelphia which in 1886 cast 11,500 votes and the tenth district, Bucks (part) Lehigh and Northampton, which cast 22,000 while each of them two years later cast over 70 per centt more votes. But let us see how the voting is done in the Northeran States where the State has been in the control of the republicans and the districts formed to suit them. Below we give the Congressional vote for 1888 for fourteen different states. It will be observed that here are 79 northeran republican congressmen elected by less than 4000 votes each.

The name of Pattison is a synonym for all that is honorable in public life, and commends the plaudits of political foes who differ with the Democracy on every question but that of a fair and fearless State administration.—Reading Telegram, Dem.

The nominations at Scranton last week were made by the best thought of the Democratic party. They were made without intrigue patronage or dictation. Whatever of bossism there is in the Democratic organization, and that there is little of personal dictatorship in it at present is due to its lapse from power was cast in support of Mr. Wallace while for successful candidate remained the swelling billow of popular acclaim for a man who during several terms of public office devoted himself to his official duties, ruling his actions upon the line of principals frankly avowed and sturdly maintained.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telergaph, Rep.

The Great Benefit

Which people in run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in the perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.

His Bones Continue to Grow.

At the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids there is a patient suffering from a peculiar and incurable disease, the like of which is rarely met with and never before in such a perfectly hopeless and completly developed state as in this intsance. It is called acromegaly, but the name conveys no information of the horrible nature of the disease, which is one that baffles medical skill. The bones of the frame and cranium of a victim of acromegaly never cease to grow, but add bone tissue, cartilege to cartilege until the individual is distended to an enormus size.—Chicago Herald.

Speers Wines For Parties

Physicians employ Speer's Port Grape Wine in their practice in all cases where a pure wine is called for, and do all in their power to foster and encourage its production. Also the same with Speer's Unfermented Grage Juice both are coming into great favor among the most wealthy in New York City, Philadelphia and Washington as an evening wine.

A $20 A Day Man!

A VOICE from Ohio. Here is a portrait of Mr. Garrison, of Salem, Ohio. He writes: "Was at work on a farm for $20 a month; I now have an agency for E. C. Allen & Co's albums and publications and often make $20 a day." (Signed) W. H. GARRISON.

William Kline, Harrisburg, Pa., writes: "I have never known anything to sell like your album. Yesterday I took orders enough to pay me over $25." W. J. Elmore, Bangor, Me., writes: "I take an order for your album at almost every house I visit. My profit is often as much as $20 for a single day's work." Others are doing quite as well; we have not space to give extracts from their letters. Every one who takes hold of this grand business piles up grand profits.

Shall we start YOU in this business, reader? Write to us and learn all about it for yourself. We are starting many; we will start you if you don't delay until another gets ahead of you in your part of the country. If you take hold you will be able to pick up gold fast. ☞ Read— On account of a forced manufacturer's sale 125,000 ten dollar Photograph Albums are to be sold to the people for $2 each.
